I. Introduction

The Government of El Salvador assumes the Pro Tempore Presidency (PTP) of the Comprehensive Regional Protection and Solutions Framework (MIRPS) for 2026 with the vision of strengthening the mechanism as a strategic platform for coordinating public policies, technical cooperation, and strategic partnerships to comprehensively address displacement in the region. In a context characterized by evolving human mobility dynamics, MIRPS serves as a key instrument for translating political commitments into concrete actions at the regional, national, and local levels.

The MIRPS Regional Action Plan 2026 establishes the programmatic priorities and lines of action that will guide the joint work of Member States throughout the year. Its activities are aimed at strengthening the implementation of regional and national commitments through a results-based management approach.

The Plan prioritizes the strengthening of national asylum and refugee systems, mechanisms for the prevention, assistance, and protection of internally displaced persons, as well as the design and implementation of initiatives that promote local integration, durable solutions, and the sustainable reintegration of returned persons with protection needs.

El Salvador's Pro Tempore Presidency is particularly committed to advancing responses that address the specific needs of women, girls, boys, adolescents, and other groups in vulnerable situations. As a cross-cutting priority, the Plan incorporates regional coordination on disaster and climate change-related displacement, aligning the MIRPS agenda with progress in disaster risk management, territorial resilience, and climate adaptation, in coordination with other regional processes and strategic partners.

The Plan promotes governance, monitoring, and resource mobilization mechanisms to ensure the effective implementation of actions, the measurement of results, and sustained progress toward the mechanism's shared objectives. It seeks to engage civil society organizations, refugee-led organizations, academia, the private sector, the MIRPS Support Platform, international organizations, and to foster coordination with other regional mechanisms, including the Regional Conference on Migration (RCM), the Quito Process (QP), the Chile Action Plan (CAP), the OAS Committee on Migration Issues (CAM), among others.

Finally, the MIRPS Regional Action Plan 2026 is conceived as a strategic tool to showcase and advance the national achievements of MIRPS countries in the areas of protection, integration, and durable solutions. It will contribute to strengthening the coherence, sustainability, and impact of national and regional responses to displacement, grounded in cooperation, shared responsibility, and respect for human dignity and human rights.

II. Objectives

Overall Objective:

To promote a comprehensive regional response across MIRPS countries that strengthens the protection and integration of refugees, asylum-seekers, internally displaced persons, returnees with protection needs, and stateless persons through effective asylum and refugee systems, meaningful access to rights, and the facilitation of sustainable solutions.

Specific Objectives:

- ▶ To enhance the quality, efficiency, and equity of national asylum and refugee systems through the adoption of legal and institutional reforms, the digitalization of case management processes, the implementation of differentiated processing modalities, the expansion of access to legal assistance, the strengthening of staff capacities, and improved provision of information to asylum-seekers.
- ▶ To ensure that refugee status determination procedures for girls, boys, and adolescents reduce processing times and effectively uphold the best interests of the child, in accordance with international humanitarian and protection standards.
- ▶ To expand effective access for refugees, asylum-seekers, internally displaced persons, returnees with protection needs, and stateless persons to national protection systems, while strengthening mechanisms for the assistance, protection, and reintegration of returnees with specific protection needs, thereby contributing to social cohesion within host communities.
- ▶ To increase the economic self-reliance of refugees, asylum-seekers, internally displaced persons, returnees with protection needs, and stateless persons by facilitating their access to employment through government employability mechanisms, in accordance with each country's capacities and in full respect of labor rights, as well as through the recognition and certification of skills, competencies, and prior learning.
- ▶ To integrate the protection of persons displaced by climate change-related disasters into national protection and disaster risk management policies across MIRPS countries by strengthening institutional capacities and response mechanisms, in line with the commitments established under the Chile Action Plan.

III. Priorities of the MIRPS Regional Action Plan 2026

To promote a comprehensive regional response across MIRPS countries that strengthens the protection and integration of refugees, asylum-seekers, internally displaced persons, returnees with protection needs, and stateless persons through effective asylum and refugee systems, effective access to rights, and the facilitation of sustainable solutions.

In line with the Heredia Declaration, the MIRPS Regional Action Plan 2026 will focus on the following priorities:

1

Strengthening National Asylum and Refugee Systems: Continue promoting actions aimed at strengthening asylum, refugee, and comprehensive assistance systems by advancing more efficient, fair, and modern procedures, with particular emphasis on the protection of girls, boys, and adolescents, as well as historically excluded populations.

2

Promotion of Durable Solutions and Socioeconomic Inclusion: Foster the effective integration of refugees, asylum-seekers, internally displaced persons, returnees with protection needs, and stateless persons by expanding access to decent work opportunities, education, and livelihoods that strengthen their self-reliance and contribute to social cohesion within host communities.

3

Protection and Comprehensive Management of Climate Change-Related Displacement: Strengthen prevention, protection, and response actions addressing displacement caused by climate change-related disasters, while promoting the exchange of good practices and regional approaches to address other drivers of human mobility.

4

Strengthening MIRPS and Regional Coordination: Reinforce MIRPS as an effective regional mechanism for the articulation of public policies, technical cooperation, and strategic partnerships, deepening coordination with other regional mechanisms and promoting the alignment of agendas to advance shared priorities, generate synergies and complementarities, and achieve concrete results in the comprehensive response to displacement in the region, based on a shared responsibility approach.

V. Coordination with Other Regional Processes

MIRPS identifies areas of complementarity with the Regional Conference on Migration (RCM), the Quito Process, the Chile Action Plan (CAP), the Platform on Disaster Displacement (PDD), the OAS Committee on Migration Issues (CAM/OAS), and other regional mechanisms, as well as global frameworks such as the Global Refugee Forum, which address human mobility, migration, international protection, and displacement. This convergence creates opportunities to advance a more comprehensive, coordinated, and coherent regional response by leveraging synergies in areas such as:

Integration of People in Human Mobility and Skills Certification:

MIRPS serves as a key platform for promoting the integration of refugees and the reintegration of returnees with protection needs. In particular, initiatives related to the certification of labor competencies for these populations play an important role in facilitating their socioeconomic integration and contributing to development within host communities. In this area, there is significant potential for collaboration with the RCM, whose work includes the certification of competencies of migrants to support their integration.

Disaster Displacement:

Addressing displacement resulting from the adverse impacts of disasters and climate change represents an important area of convergence between MIRPS, the Platform on Disaster Displacement (PDD), the Chile Action Plan (CAP), and the Regional Conference on Migration (RCM). Coordination with these mechanisms provides opportunities to complement efforts in prevention, preparedness, response, and durable solutions, while integrating protection and climate resilience approaches.

Comprehensive Protection of Children and Adolescents in Human Mobility Contexts:

Differentiated protection for migrant and refugee girls, boys, and adolescents aligns with initiatives promoted by the SICA Commission on Children and Adolescents, as well as with the work of the Regional Conference on Migration (RCM) and the Inter-American Declaration on the Protection and Integration of Migrant and Refugee Children and Adolescents in the Americas (AG/DEC. 111 (LIII-O/23)). These areas of convergence strengthen opportunities to develop harmonized protocols, regional referral pathways, and joint mechanisms to guarantee the rights of children and adolescents.
